Effective Education about the False Claims Recovery Act for Employees, Agents, and Contractors of the District:

The purpose of this regulation is to educate employees, agents, and contractors of Austin Independent School District on the requirements of the Federal Deficit Reduction Act (DRA) of 2005. Section 6032 of the DRA, titled “Employee Education about False Claims Recovery”, aims to reduce fraud, abuse, and waste by governmental agencies. The act requires entities, including the District, that receive at least $5 million dollars annually from Medicaid reimbursements to provide their employees, agents, and contractors with information regarding federal and state false claims laws, administrative remedies under those laws, whistleblower protections to employees who report incidents of false claims, and District programs for detecting and preventing fraud, waste, and abuse in Medicaid programs.

The entire Deficit Reduction Act language may be found at:

The False Claims Act prohibits any person, employee, contractor, or agent from knowingly presenting or causing to be presented, a false or fraudulent claim to the United States government for payment when the person, employee, contractor, or agent:

- Knowingly presents, or causes to be presented, to an officer or employee of the United States government or a member of the Armed Forces of the United States a false or fraudulent claim for payment or approval;
- Knowingly makes, uses, or causes to be made or used, a false record or statement to get a false or fraudulent claim paid or approved by the government;
- Conspires to defraud the government by getting a false or fraudulent claim paid or approved by the government; or
- Knowingly makes, uses, or causes to be made or used, a false record or statement to conceal, avoid, or decrease an obligation to pay or transmit money or property to the government.

Language for the Federal Claims Act can be found at:

CIVIL PENALTIES

Civil penalties to the United States government are for amounts not less than $5,000 and not more than $10,000, plus three times the amount of damages, which the government sustains because of the act of that person.

While the False Claims Act imposes liability only when the claimant acts “knowingly,” it does not require that the person submitting the claim have actual knowledge that the claim is false. A person who acts in reckless disregard or in deliberate ignorance of the truth or falsity of the information also can be found liable under the Act. 31 U.S.C. 3729(b).

In sum, the False Claims Act imposes liability on any person who submits a claim to the federal government that he or she knows (or should know) is false. An example may be a physician who submits a bill to Medicare for medical services he or she knows he or she has not provided.

DEFINITIONS OF "KNOWING" AND "KNOWINGLY"

For purposes of this section, the terms "knowing" and "knowingly" mean that a person, with respect to information:

1. Has actual knowledge of the information;
2. Acts in deliberate ignorance of the truth or falsity of the information; or
3. Acts in reckless disregard of the truth or falsity of the information and no proof of specific intent to defraud is required.

PRIVATE PERSON OR "QUI TAM" WHISTLEBLOWER

The False Claims Act (FCA) provides that private parties ("qui tam" relators) may bring an action on behalf of the United States. These private parties may share in a percentage of the proceeds from an FCA action or settlement.

The percentage is set to be at least 15 percent but not more than 25 percent of the proceeds of the FCA action, depending upon the extent to which the relator substantially contributed to the prosecution of the action. When the government does not intervene, section 3730(d)(2) provides that the relator will receive an amount that the court decides is reasonable, and the amount will not be less than 25 percent nor more than 30 percent.

WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTION

In addition to District policy DG(LEGAL) addressing state law on whistleblower protections, and DGBA(LOCAL) regarding employee grievances/complaints including whistleblower complaints, the FCA provides protection to qui tam relators who are discharged, demoted, suspended, threatened, harassed, or in any other manner discriminated against in the terms and conditions of their employment as a result of their furtherance of an action under the FCA. 31 U.S.C. 3730(h).
Remedies include:

- Reinstatement with comparable seniority as the qui tam relator would have had but for the discrimination,
- Two times the amount of any back pay,
- Interest on any back pay, and
- Compensation for any special damages sustained as a result of the discrimination, including litigation costs and reasonable attorneys' fees.

The District combats Medicaid fraud, waste, and abuse by investigating complaints, raising awareness of anti-fraud initiatives, and ensuring compliance with state and federal laws. The District has a responsibility to conduct its affairs ethically and in compliance with law.
